I. COMPRENSIÓN DE UN TEXTO:

TOYS

All of us have children, brother or sisters. At early ages we usually buy them presents, for which one toy is a very easy way to provoke a smile in one child.

The election of the right toy for children is not an easy question. We normally classify these objects according to the children’s sex when we want to give them a gift away. Many people complain and think that this classification responds to a machist ideology. It is evident that most toys can be used by both boys and girls; but in all cases we have to take into consideration the children’s and the parents’ tastes.

Another kind of toys provoke some people’s rage. War playing objects are taken for militaristic and they encourage parents to choose neutral toys instead of the ones that are related to war and conflict. Most parents agree and they try to buy educational toys which form their children in human values.

It is evident that the topic is not closed and not all people agree and they give good reasons for and against toys in particular. But toys have formed part of human beings since the beginning of history, being even object of attraction for artists.
